

Douglas Castle Stone

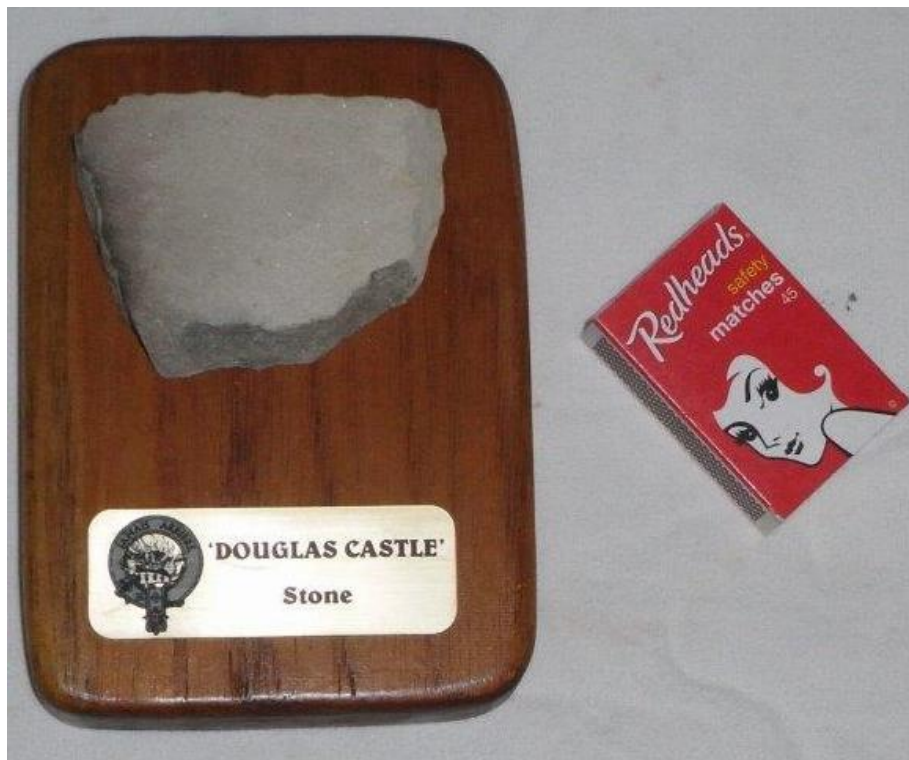

Clan Douglas Association of Australia is offering a special and unique memento of our Scottish heritage with the sale of a very limited number of Douglas Castle Stones. This would make an ideal gift for those family members wishing to have their own little piece of history.

The stones have been sourced from Douglas Castle in South Lanarkshire, Scotland, a stronghold of the Douglas family from medieval times to the 20th century. The first castle, erected in the 13th century, was destroyed and replaced several times until the 18th century when a large mansion house was built in its place. This too was demolished in 1938, and today only a single corner tower of the 17th-century castle remains.

Description: A section of building stone removed from the site of Douglas Castle, South Lanarkshire, Scotland mounted on a piece of Cedar wood (approx.13 X 9.5 cm) with "Douglas Castle Stone" inscribed on a laser printed plaque with the Douglas family crest badge.

A Certificate of Authenticity is also included signed by William Douglas of Douglas Archives, Scotland, who was present when the stones were removed from the site. The certificate will be posted separately to the stone which will be securely packaged.
